| The Fed has cut its key interest rate by 25 basis points, and while the US dollar has remained relatively stable following a dip, it is trending weaker overall. US consumer confidence has fallen to its lowest level since April, raising political concerns. There is a renewed risk of a government shutdown, which could affect the markets. Commodities enjoyed broad-based gains. The drivers behind the bull market were geopolitical uncertainties, the threat of war, Fed cuts, the risk of a shutdown and a weaker US dollar. Gold, silver, platinum and palladium all rose sharply, while copper jumped to a 15-month high after Freeport declared force majeure following a fatal accident at the Grasberg mine. This is likely to reduce gold and copper production by 35%. Despite the US interest rate cut, WTI/Brent fluctuated and remained largely stable. The indices also rose to/near record levels following the Fed's cut. The S&amp;P and Nasdaq indices had their best September in 15 years. This is likely due to positive signals of tariff dispute easing between the US and China. The FTSE reached an all-time high too. Meanwhile, the US presented a Gaza plan and proposed supplying Ukraine with Tomahawk missiles. |  | 1M                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 3M     | 6M     | 12M    | since launch | 2024                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 2025  | 2026 |       |      |       |      |        |         |

For more information, contact: invest@1000ftad.ch The actual investment policy may focus on acquiring assets, e.g. only a few currencies. This allocation to a few specific investment sectors may be associated with particular opportunities, but also with corresponding risks (e.g. market narrowness, higher fluctuation margins, etc.). The price or market development of financial products depends in particular on the development of the capital markets, which is influenced by the general situation of the global economy and the economic and political conditions in the respective countries, among other things. The default of an issuer or counterparty can result in losses. 1000FTAD AG only uses part of its available capital as part of its investment strategy. The value of assets denominated in foreign currencies may fluctuate. SWAP, derivative, certificate or CFD transactions may, depending on their purpose, reduce the potential returns or at least increase the risk of loss. A change in the investment policy may change the risk associated with the investment strategy. In addition to the overall business activities of 1000FTAD AG, the investment strategy is only part of a possible performance and therefore exhibits increased volatility due to the techniques used by the asset management, i.e. the unit prices may be subject to greater downward or upward fluctuations even within short periods of time.
